MEMPHIS, TENN., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1884.

VOL. XLIV-NO. 306

THE contract for finishing the Memphis, Holly Springs and Selma railroad was given out yesterday to responsible parties, and the work will be pushed with The Treaty Providing for the Construcenergy. This is a most encouraging item of news, and on the eve of the new year leads to the belief, as Jay Gould predicts, that 1885 is to be a year of business re-

THE proposition of the Taxing-District Council to reopen and extend the act authorizing a compromise of the debt of the city of Memphis will meet with gen- The Same to the Senate-The Commereral approval, and it is hoped the creditors who have not compromised will avail themselves of this last and final apport tunity, agree to the measure and avail themselves of its provisions.

COZGRESMAN H. B. VANCE, of Alabama, is prominently mentioned for Commissioner of Patents under the next administration. On this the Montgomery Advartizer says: "Whether Gen. Vance desires such a position or not we do not know, but there is no man in the Congress of the United States, or perhaps out of it, better equipped to fill that position than he. His long service on the House Committee His long service on the House Committee on Patents, of which he is now chairman, has made him familiar with the business of that department, and with the laws and usages governing it. The office and those having business with it would be gainers by his appointment."

In an interview with the New York World, from which we gather this fact, we also learn that Mr. Gould has been giving the formation of the Cabinet some thought, satisfied that Cleveland will select none but representative men to fill the places in it. He says: "I should not be surprised if William C. Whitney should be honored by a position. He would, in my opinion, make a capital Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Eayard, Secretary of the Treasury. in a generation the western coast has developed into an empire, with a large and rapidly growing population, with vast but partially developed resources. At the present rate of increase the end of the century will see us a commonwealth of people of perhaps nearly 100,000,000 in-babitants, of which the West should have a considerably larger and richer population than now.

The President briefly refers to past efforts, by means of surveys, to find a practicable route for a ship canal across the Isthmus between the two oceans, all of which, with a single exception, have resulted in the discovery of insuperable obstacles to the building of a profitable intercocanic canal. The proposed treaty provides for such canal through teriority friendly territory of Nicaragua. He invites special attention to the provisions of the treaty itself as best showing its stope, and continues as follows:

From respect to the independent soverighty of the republic, through whose co-operation the project alone can be realized, the stipulations of the treaty look to the fullest recognition and protection of Nicaraguan rights in the prenises.
